Wasco City Hall visitors asked vaccine status

JAMIE STEWART
The Shafter Press

The city of Wasco has put out a Vaccination Declaration asking residents to inform the city of vaccination status when they visit City Hall.

“We will also have one for city employees,” City Clerk Maria Martinez said Wednesday. “It’s just part of the regulation that the CDC sent out and also OSHA with indoor settings.”

There are different statuses that you can check on the form, including fully vaccinated, partially vaccinated, not yet vaccinated, and decline to answer. On the form, the city states if the resident declines to answer, you will be assumed not vaccinated for purposes and rules that are different from fully vaccinated or unvaccinated persons.

Some residents are objecting to this action.

“I don’t feel that the city has a right to have us turn this form in. It seems that this is a privacy issue and it just seems wrong,” said Manuel Vallardes, who said that he was not going to fill out the form. “You might as well put a big red letter on your chest, branding you like in the Scarlet Letter, it is not right.”

Gov. Gavin Newsom opened California on June 15, relieving its residents of the majority of the restrictions that were in place, except for certain situations, including large mega-events with over 5,000 people in attendance.

Restaurants, bars, gyms, and other businesses that were restricted in their operations are now fully open, allowing indoor dining for everyone.

According to Public Health Department guidelines, those residents who have been fully vaccinated do not have to wear a face covering while around town or shopping in stores.

Medical experts are keeping an eye on the new case rates in the days and weeks after the opening, making sure that the action does not result in another outbreak.

Many local residents are relieved by the action, enjoying being able to walk around town and go into stores without the face coverings.

“I understand the need for the masks, but I really had trouble wearing them for a prolonged period of time,” said Shafter resident Mary Talford, who was shopping with her two children. “I got vaccinated and am really excited for the city getting back to normal.”

The majority of restaurants in Shafter, including La Fonda on Central Avenue, are still practicing social distancing protocols, leaving a distance between diners with a table separating them. The city buildings are open without restrictions for those who have been vaccinated.

Shafter shot putter ranked number one in the world decided to try picking up the event again and was successful right away. Hurlbert won almost all of the events he entered, including national events.

Hurlbert has won numerous national titles, as well as several regional titles. His latest meet, the Striders Master of Champions meet in Santa Clara, was the first time he had thrown in competition in 15 months.

His heave of 10.86 meters is the top throw in the world, ahead of Heikki Yli of Finland, who is second with a throw that was three centimeters behind Hurlbert.

The next big meet is set for Aames, Iowa, but Hurlbert does not think that he will be able to make it to the event.

“This gets really expensive and Iowa may not be in the cards for me this year,” said Hurlbert.

Hurlbert enjoys throwing the shot put, along with his passion for golf, which he has turned into a very successful business.

Hurlbert is owner and operator of Golfcraft Custom Clubs, a business that he started over a decade ago in Bakersfield. Hurlbert trained with the top club fitter in the world, stationed in New Jersey. Hurlbert came back home from New Jersey with the knowledge and experience to begin his own business.

Hurlbert had a storefront in the Westchester area of Bakersfield until moving to Shafter five years ago.

“It is not real crazy, just enough work to keep me busy and engaged, which suits me just fine,” he said.

Hurlbert said he gets joy from taking a golfer who is struggling with his game, stuck in a rut trying to better his score, and design a custom set of clubs that will change the golfer’s game drastically.

Golfcraft Custom Clubs can be found on its website, as well as at 661-205-2508.

Illegal fireworks still an issue locally

JAMIE STEWART
The Shafter Press

If you wander outside in the evening at this time of year, you are more than likely to see a light show in the sky, thanks to the continuing issue of illegal fireworks in the area.

SHAFTER

The Shafter Police Department was proactive last year, and got the City Council to approve a new ordinance which allows the police department to issue citations of $1,000 to those who let off illegal fireworks.

The new ordinance resulted in over 21 citations being handed out, many of them for $1,000. Before the ordinance, someone who was caught with illegal fireworks might receive a small fine.

Shafter Police Chief Kevin Zimmermann said that their efforts last year have paid dividends this year as well.

“During May and June of 2020, we received approximately 275 fireworks related service calls. In May and June of this year, we have received 127 fireworks related service calls,” he said.

Zimmermann said one issue that gets overlooked is the challenges that are faced by the percentage of military veterans living in the community.

“For this cross section of our community, illegal fireworks can represent an immeasurable challenge to their day-to-day lives,” Zimmermann said. “Only a veteran or a close family member of a veteran can truly understand these types of challenges.”

Zimmermann said that he would ask the community to try to understand this important fact before deciding to use illegal fireworks.

Police Chief Kevin Zimmermann put out a video last year warning against the use of them and the consequences if you do.

He also said that the use of illegal fireworks is hazardous to our pets.

“Our pets have no way of understanding what these loud noises represent so they often react by running away,” he said. “It makes for a busy month for pet owners and our Animal Control Unit.”

Farmers struggle to water fields during drought

Stan Wilson, a local farmer who has gone through decades of challenges when it comes to this balancing act, said that the farmers locally depend a lot on pumping their own water, with the water from SWID not nearly enough to water their fields fully.

He said they lost one of their wells that had rusted out and was allowing sand into the pipes, leaving it useless.

“The well was about 75 years old and just gave out,” Wilson said.

Wilson said that the prospect of buying water is an emergency thing and most farmers cannot afford to do so with the prices so high.

“Unless it is a life or death thing, buying the water is just too expensive,” Wilson said.

Another local farmer, who declined to be named in the article, said that farmers in the area are in a tough situation, with a lot of them having to sacrifice certain crops to get enough water for others on their lands.

“It is really unfair having to pick and choose what crops or fields to water, or how much can we short this field without it not killing the trees? It is an unfair decision to have to make and it really can be prevented,” the farmer said.

With work being done on a Ground Water Sustainability Plan locally, involving City Council members including Mayor Pro Tem Chad Givens, the issue of water and its usage is being looked at.

Good Samaritan opens Wasco clinic

TONI DEROSA
Wasco Tribune

Good Samaritan in Bakersfield has opened a clinic in Wasco after its program to test field workers for covid-19 was a success.

The Good Samaritan Medical Clinic is located at 1217 Seventh St., across the street from Fiesta Latina Market.

The clinic will offer behavioral health services as well as primary care and wound care. The clinic will treat minors when it's an emergency situation.

Once the clinic receives its Medicare certification, it plans on holding a ribbon cutting ceremony.

"This is a good thing because we are just starting to view the reopening," Behavioral Specialist Melba Morales said.

Morales treats all kinds of mental health issues such as stress, anxiety and PTSD.

"Anxiety is the most common issue I see," Morales said.

Morales received her social work degree at Los Angeles City College with her Bachelor's degree in psychology and her Master's degree from California State University, Bakersfield.

Nurse Practitioner Bertha Barraza is a 2016 graduate from California State University, Bakersfield with a Master's degree and is a graduate of Wasco High School.

Seven of the eight clinic staff members are from Wasco originally.

"We were met with open arms in Wasco," Morales said. "We are treating the whole person, not just physical issues. Medically, both behavioral and medical issues are connected and that is why we see the importance of treating the whole person."

Good Samaritan does not accept managed care insurance plans; however, their rates are on a sliding scale and a visit now costs $20 for all services.

"We have currently screened 100 behavioral health patients," Barraza said.

Dr. Harjeet S. Brar out of Good Samaritan in Bakersfield on Olive Drive is in charge of overseeing the clinic.

The two also said that a clinic is slated for Shafter in the near future. The clinic has no lab services available; however, there is a lab in Bakersfield on Olive Drive.

The clinic can be reached at 661-215-7721.

Wasco State Prison to help fund fireworks show

TONI DEROSA
Wasco Tribune

The Wasco State Prison has helped fund the city's July fireworks show for several years and this year's fundraiser will be on Wednesday, July 7.

The prison's next fundraiser will be at Panda Express on Highway 46 in Wasco from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. If anyone comes in to order on that day, they must mention Wasco State Prison when placing their order and the money from that sale will go directly toward the fundraiser.

Correctional Food Manager II

WASCO

Louis Rodriguez is in charge of the fundraising committee and Correctional Lieutenant, Assistant Correctional Public Information Officer Joshua Farley oversees the fundraising committee.

The committee is also involved in Wreaths across America, Links for Life, Wasco schools, VFW, Veterans Run and Kern County's Portrait of a Warrior. The committee donates four $500 scholarships to staff children headed to college.

"We are going through the application process right now," Farley said.

Farley said teachers at the schools are able to log onto the prison website and locate the app to view portraits of Kern County warriors.

"We do a lot of food fundraising," Rodriguez said. "We'll grill, barbecue, grilled bacon-wrapped hot dogs and other foods to sell at the prison and to the public."

"We also do a staff appreciation luncheon," Rodriguez added. "We feed close to 1,500 staff members."

VFW restarts pancake breakfasts

TONI DEROSA
Wasco Tribune

The VFW Post 6742 on E Street held the first pick-up pancake breakfast in over a year since the pandemic began on Saturday, June 19.

WASCO

Pancakes, bacon and scrambled eggs along with orange juice were individually bagged for each recipient.

For $7 a plate, the pancakes were light and fluffy and the thick bacon slices took away the urge to gobble everything down rapidly as diners savored every bite. Manning the hot griddles were Lionel Lopez, Mathew Johnson and Mark Miller from Shafter.

Elks' member John Geisy was front and center helping the Wasco/Shafter VFW crew and he also brought along a number of bottles of hand sanitizer for everyone.

Missing from the festivities was former Commander Danny Rueda, who is currently being hospitalized facing a medical situation.

"Danny is the strongest person I know," former Commander James Medrano said. "He is a true patriot and the backbone of the VFW. We missed him."

One of the attendees at the breakfast was veteran Donald Johnson, who served in Vietnam. Johnson was recognized for providing his unit the direction to conduct business in a timely manner and with professionalism.

"Most of the young guys coming over to Nam were scared to death," Johnson said. "They were afraid they were all going to die."

VFW Rose Queen candidate Ixchel Sanchez.

When Johnson went into the military he told himself he would do the best job he could. When he was in charge of ordering supplies, they would arrive much quicker than other units.

"It took me 53 years to get my Bronze Star," Johnson said. "For some reason, the paperwork kept getting held up. But, it finally arrived this past week."

The Bronze Star Medal is awarded to any person who, while serving in any capacity in or with the military of the United States after Dec. 6, 1941, distinguished himself or herself by heroic or meritorious achievement or service, not involving participation in aerial flight, while engaged in an action against an enemy of the United States; while engaged in military operations involving conflict with an opposing foreign force; or while serving with friendly foreign forces engaged in an armed conflict against an opposing armed force in which the United States is not a belligerent party.

Awards may be made for acts of heroism, performed under circumstances described above, which are of lesser degree than required for the award of the Silver Star.

Awards may be made to recognize single acts of merit or meritorious service. The required achievement or service while of lesser degree than that required for the award of the Legion of Merit must nevertheless have been meritorious and accomplished with distinction.

Joining everyone for breakfast was Assembly member Rudy Salas.

Beginning July 1, Camilo Vasquez will be taking the reigns as Commander of VFW 6742.

Donald J. Johnson was the recipient of the Bronze Star for his actions during the Vietnam War.

PET OF THE WEEK

Roxy needs a new home

Roxy, a 5-year-old female Australian Kelpie mix, was an owner surrender to the Wasco Animal Shelter.

This short-haired, black medium sized dog is approximately 50-55 pounds and is slightly timid toward staff. Roxy has not been tested with other dogs, cats, or children. At this time it is unknown if she is house or crate trained.

Roxy is available for adoption now.

Everyone is welcome to adopt from the facility. Adopters can be from out of town and/or local. The shelter will not place holds for adoption. Potential adopters are responsible for transportation.

Call the shelter at 661-758-7240 and schedule a time to visit Roxy. It is first call, first serve. Appointments made via email are not available.

All dogs will be neutered/spayed once adopted. Depending on the availability of our local vet, it is not a guarantee that the animal will be spayed/neutered the same day.

The shelter is accepting animal surrenders at this time.

Rescue is a nonprofit organization with a tax exempt 501(c)(3). If you never pulled from the Wasco Animal Shelter, email the shelter two references and a copy of your 501(c)(3) form.

The Wasco Animal Shelter is located at 5409 7th St. and are open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice of Petition to Administer Estate of:

Daniel Lee Sanders
Case Number: PPB-21-002608

1. To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Daniel Lee Sanders

2. A Petition for Probate has been filed by: Clyde Sanders in the Superior Court of California, County of: Kern 3. The Petition for Probate requests that: Clyde Sanders be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

4. The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

5. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

6. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows:

a. Date: 07/29/2021 Time: 10:30a.m. Dept.: P

b. Address of court: Superior Court of California, County of Kern, 1215 Truxtun Avenue, Bakersfield, CA 93301, Probate.

7. If you object to the granting of the petition you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

8. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 90902 of the California Probate Code.

9. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

10. You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

11. Attorney for petitioner: Robert S. Waldo

HOW TO ADVERTISE EFFECTIVELY AND ECONOMICALLY

Our sales representatives are pleased to help you compose the most effective ad at a minimum cost. Here are two key points to remember about your ads:

1. If it's an item you're selling, remember to include as much information as possible. The more potential buyers know about the item you have for sale, the more interest they have in calling you.

2. Our reputation for Classified Advertising results is excellent. But not every potential buyer will read your ad on the same day. The majority of our private party advertisers take advantage of our discount rates. This simply means that you order your ad for two consecutive issues, but should you get the results you desire before the ad has expired, you may call and cancel the ad and be refunded for the days the ad did not appear. Except for GR - no refunds or changes accepted.

GENERAL POLICY

1. Rates and deadlines subject to change without notice.
2. The Shafter Press and Wasco Tribune make every effort to avoid errors in advertisements. Each ad is carefully read back for approval. However, mistakes sometimes slip through. COUCHS CORNER

Delano Recovery Station provides a safe space

DAVID COUCH

Can you believe it has been one year since the opening of the Delano Recovery Station? This past week, Telecare opened the doors to the public to celebrate the one-year anniversary. Since the facility began operating in June 2020, the voluntary sobering program plays an integral role in District Four reducing substance abuse in Kern County's second-largest city. The five-client, short-stay (4-10 hour) program provides screening, access and linkage to care for individuals with co-occurring mental illness and/or substance use needs. Services aim to promote recovery in a safe, sobering and welcoming environment with respect and nonjudgment.

Open seven days a week, 24 hours a day, Telecare partners with Kern Behavioral Health & Recovery Services to operate the Delano Recovery Station, 629 Main St. In fact, it is one of the three treatment service programs Telecare operates in Kern. Since its founding in 1965, the family-and-employee-owned company has evolved over the decades to serve a full spectrum of recovery-centered services that improves the standard of living in communities across the nation.

Providing law enforcement diversion for persons who are acutely intoxicated and have a co-occurring mental illness where, instead of being arrested, they are presented with an opportunity for peer engagement. This allows both the clients to be connected with services and our law enforcement agencies to continue protecting our communities.

For example, the Delano Police Department can remain in town reducing crime and not have to take the extended drive to the Kern County Jail in Bakersfield. Prior to this service being available, these individuals previously may have been arrested for public intoxication and/or taken to unnecessary psychiatric crisis programs. When I collaborated with KernBHRS to open the Recovery Station, one of my goals was to assist BPD enhance public safety. Individuals referred to the program are screened by Recovery Station staff over the phone and transported to the facility by partner agencies including law enforcement, MET, behavioral health treatment providers, homeless providers and friends and family. To meet the needs of the Delano community they are also allowing individuals to self-refer.

The residents are provided a shower, provide access to a washer and dryer and community resources that can assist them move forward. When you call in to make a referral, please be ready to provide staff basic information about the individual such as their name, date of birth, and a description of what is occurring.

Please call the Recovery Station before transporting anyone to the facility. Keep in mind that the station is not an alternative to incarceration. Individuals arrested for DUI, warrants, or charges should not be brought to the Recovery Station. Also, anyone in need of urgent medical attention should be taken to a hospital. Additionally, the Recovery Station does not provide psychiatric crisis services.

As we continue to expand behavioral health services to combat the ongoing opioid pandemic, I am committed to working with constituents across District Four to develop initiatives that improve our ongoing efforts. We know that embracing the family members and residents closest to the people in need of sobriety can improve our chances of guiding them to a better path.

Linkage to community-based programs that guide individuals to long-term stability is essential to this program. Special thanks to KernBHRS Director Stacy Kuwahara, and Recovery Station Administrator Shauna Chisholm from Telecare for their dedication to the community of Delano and Kern County at large.

Also, I would like to thank the clinicians, substance use specialists, and peers support staff who engages with some of our most vulnerable community including individuals experiencing homelessness.

When reflecting on this past year, Administrator Shauna Chisholm said that:

“Over the last year we have had the opportunity to serve the Delano and surrounding areas and it has been an amazing year for us at the Recovery Station. We have seen the community come together to help individuals who are at a low point in their life and needing to know that someone cares. While not everyone who comes through our doors is ready to make a change we are always here when they are. We look forward to many more years in the Delano area”.

For individuals in a career field involving social work or behavioral health, please check out the career opportunities available at the facility by visiting www.telecarecorp.com/delano-recovery-station. For any questions, please contact the Recovery Station at 661-394-2441 or email DelanoRecovery-Station@telecarecorp.com.

If you have any general questions for our District 4 office, call 661-868-3680 or email us at district4@kerncounty.com. Have a safe week.

PASTORS CORNER

Spread the message that saves the world

STEVE DOBBS

Circle Community Church

Is it safe to say that for the past year and a half we have been on an emotional roller-coaster? A year and a half ago we had never heard the word covid before. Since then it has changed lives around the world. Just like everything else in our lives it seems that there are at least two sides to this problem.

We as a society can't seem to come to a consensus on the correct plan of action. Do we wear masks or not wear masks? Do we open restaurants or leave them closed? Do we allow kids back to school or not? And the arguments continue. Most of us have our own views on each of these matters.

What we fail to realize, it's OK to have a different opinion than your friends or neighbors. I believe the same goes for the church.

Not every church has exactly the same belief or tradition. That's OK. I believe we as the Church, not the local body, but the body of Christ need to join together to see our broken world come to the saving knowledge of Jesus. We may only agree on 95% of our doctrine or tradition. Shouldn't we be able to join together in the 95% we agree on instead of bickering about the 5% we don't? I believe we have the message that saves the world. So why don't we join together and deliver that message to the world.

The best is yet to come.
